From the Bethel Town Office

Airport Questionnaires Due
Completion and return to the Town Office of remaining Airport Questionnaires requested of local and regional business and institutions in early January is sought by Monday, Feb. 7. In a special meeting that evening, the Board of Selectmen will review these inputs and consider a recommendation to be made at the March Town Meeting regarding the proposed package industrial/commercial complex and airport project at the Bethel Airport.

Bethel citizens will be asked to decide the future of the Bethel Airport at the 1983 Town Meeting. The warrant article will contain three essential areas:

- whether to exercise a no-cost land option on property adjacent to Col. Dyke Field in Mayville that would be used for a realigned runway;
- whether to adopt the planning, financial and design concepts and strategies for developing an airport-industrial/commercial park complex proposed in the "Airport Master Plan" (1982); and
- pursue federal, state and local options.

According to the Master Plan, the Town would sell six lots on the airport site to area businesses.

WEST BETHEL HOME GUTTED BY FIRE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The home of John and Jackie Gunther, West Bethel, was gutted by fire late last Saturday afternoon reportedly caused by an overheated metal asbestos chimney.

Twenty members of the Bethel Fire Department, under the direction of Fire Chief Robert Davis, responded to the 4:40 p. m. call.

The Gunther's daughter, Julie, the only one at home at the time, went to a neighbor's house and called the Oxford County Regional Communications Center to summon the fire department.

According to the Fire Chief the fire was within the house when apparatus arrived, and the firemen entered the dwelling through the front door after breaking some windows. Although not burning to the ground, the house was considered to be a total loss, with loss estimated to be $40,000. There is believed to be insurance coverage.

Upton

— Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. —

Weather continues unseasonably warm—we have a little snow cover left in spite of rain and freezing rain. There has not been enough moisture so far but some are concerned about summer water supply in wells, springs and lakes.

Christine Lagesse treated her parents to an evening out with supper for their 22nd anniversary.

Thirty-six people attended the surprise party given to Roland Bernier on his 65th birthday by his daughter, Laurie Bergeron. Present were three of his sons, Lou of North Waterford; André of Bethel, and Joe of Lovell, and their families; two of his daughters, Nita of Newry, and Laurie of Upton, with their families; and several friends. I am not listing these because some of them are averse to having their names in the paper. Included were some who had not met previously and enjoyed an opportunity to become acquainted. The guest of honor received many nice gifts and cards from those present and from several other and extends a heartfelt thank you.

Mike Bergeron went to the emergency wing of the Norway hospital recently for spinal treatment. The planning board postponed their January meeting as last Monday was not only bad travelling, but two members were fighting flu.

Welcome home from the hospital to the Swiss Miss. Hope your health continues to improve.

Magalloway &amp; WILSON'S MILLS

— Alice Harvey, Corres. —

USS met on Tuesday. Alice was presented an unusual, but most appropriate gift from her friend, Donna.

There have been good attendances at the Senior Meals on Wednesday at the Errol Restaurant. The Magalloway Town Report has been taken to the printers for publishing.

Skating is reported to be very good at all skiways.

Several children have been absent from school due to the flu bug.

Many people from both towns went to Rangeley on the week-end for the Sno-Deo.

After a week of cold nights and real nice days more snow fell on Monday. Two to four inches is predicted as of this writing.

—deferred—
The Wilson's Mills school children had their first ski lesson at Wilderness on Monday.

Carlene Hinkley tended the Post Office on Monday afternoon.

Beverly and Alice were in Berlin for Grange business one day last week.

Bertha West is feeling much better after a bout with a terrible cold.

Carlene Hinkley and Beverly Cameron were in Colebrook for Town business on Thursday.

Donny and Donna Glover were at the Berlin hospital one day to visit with Madge Hart who is a patient there.

A Grange meeting was held on Saturday evening with a good attendance, including the Grange baby, Hannah. First and second degrees were conferred.

After a week of very cold weather, this morning is a coat of ice everywhere with travel warnings. A most unusual winter.

Northwest Bethel - South Woodstock

— Clarice Gibson, Corres. —

Today as I turned the calendar over to February it just didn't seem possible a whole month of 1983 is behind us.

Last week was another good week and week end after the ice storm the week before. We did however, wake up to about an inch or so of snow on the ground and it kept on snowing quite a while in the morning. It didn't make too much accumulation but did cover up the ice enough so one didn't always realize where it was. On going out to feed the St. Bernard late yesterday afternoon I was going down the cement ramp into the barn when both feet flew out from under me. My head hit the cement and the bottom part hit the tar at the foot of the ramp. At least the dog's dish fell right side up so was able to feed the dog. On the whole, though, we have had a good winter for getting up.

Frank Murphy came home Friday from Rumford Community Hospital. Sid says that they have three gray squirrels that come and tap on the window on their patio door, waiting for peanuts. They will come and eat out of their hands.

Sylvia Benson also was telling about all the mourning doves that come every day to be fed. Wallace Jones of Anchorage, Alaska, came for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert and family. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stearns had a sliding party at their farm Sunday. Those coming were their daughter and family, Debbie, Dawn, Ryan and Rusty Seames; Chuckie, Kathy, Jennifer, Chuckie and Merry Mason; Scott, Rocky, Little Scott, and Jana Mason; Joe and Gerry Shimamura. Joyce made cookies and served with punch or coffee.

Callers at Frank and Sylvia Benson's Sunday were their daughter and children, Sharon, Anita and Chantel Kimball, Waterford, and Joe and Gerry Shimamura stopped in on their way walking back from Stearns'.

Northwest Bethel - South Woodstock

— Olive Davis, Corres. —

Erland Hadley had a chimney fire this week so they called the Bryant Pond fire truck and West Paris for back-up, in case of a worse fire.

The meanest month of the year is about to pass into oblivion. The days are progressively becoming longer and even the plants perk up in the house, and the red squirrels are coming out to the feed stations. I have two who are monopolizing the feed trays as long as there are seeds in there. The gray squirrels were late in bedding down as we had some the first of the winter but they haven't been around now for some weeks.

I was down to Esther Davis' on Tuesday and had salmon stew with her. It was delicious. We had a nice visit together.

Esther prepared a birthday dinner for her daughter Patsy Tibbets Monday night and went to her home in Oxford for an evening meal. They had visitors all the evening to see Patsy on her day. Esther Davis remained all night, returning home Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Larrie Wilday took their daughter, Kendy, back to college in South Lancaster, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schroer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. James Mason and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Mason and others were invited to an ice cream party at Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Mason's, the first of the week. Mrs. Goldie Masou showed slides of interest around home. Everyone had a very enjoyable evening.

Esther and Olive Davis called on Mrs. Lizzie Russ at Ledgewood Wednesday afternoon.

Stoneham, to Lewiston one day last week.

Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Shaw and twins went to the new Chinese take-out restaurant on Route 26, Sunday.

We extend our sympathy to Alden MacDougall and family, whose youngest brother, Douglas, passed away last week in Vermont.

Condemnation
Until you've walked a second mile in someone else's shoes,
Or stood an hour in the heat
Of huts you did not choose;
Until your heart has felt the sting
Of criticizing tongue,
You cannot taste the salty tears
A wounded soul has wrung.
Unless you've walked a moon or more
Along a thorny road,
You cannot feel another's need
To know his trying load.

Safety Tip of the Week

Chair Carry—If a second person is available to assist, but no litter or blanket is available, a convenient technique for carrying a person is to seat him on a strong chair (not folding). This method is also satisfactory for going up and down stairs, through narrow corridors, and around corners. This technique is NOT suitable for persons with neck or back injuries or injuries of the legs. A belt can be used to hold the person on the chair.

— Louise Loring, Corres. —

The cold bleak days of January are now only a mere memory and we are already full speed ahead into the shortest month of the year. With so many "mini" holidays interspersed into its 28 days, it will be no time at all before the month will fade into oblivion. Taking that into account, let us all try to live every day to its fullest, and make those memories treasured ones. Pouring over the seed catalogs can be a pleasurable experience at this time of year—but before we send those orders out—why not stretch your garden's layout? It can inject a feeling of enthusiasm into otherwise dull moments—as we plan for the beautiful fruits and vegetables we expect to harvest next fall.

Can spring be really about to knock on our door? Could be! Ms. Emeline Heath spotted a robin on Mildred McLain's lawn last Friday morning. Other residents have observed this harbinger of Spring, one being yours truly. Mr. Robin has a very sleek dark velvety upper back and his breast is a most brilliant orange. If he stayed here this winter he wintered well—but to me looks like he has just hailed from the Deep South! So keep an eye out—we may get an early spring yet.

Among those attending services for Leon V. Ferrand at South Paris last week were: Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moulton, C. R. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Chapman and Chris, Mrs. Mildred McLain, Ms. Emeline Heath, Mrs. Clifford Cole, Mrs. Mary Tyler, Mrs. Denis Corriveau, Mrs. Georgia MacArthur, and Mrs. Leo Belanger.

Timothy Chapman, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Chapman, was among the many Scouts who exhibited their handmade model cars at the Pinewood Derby in Bethel last Tuesday evening.

Homer Patenaude remains a patient at the Veterans Hospital in Togus where he was taken one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Yvon Corriveau and girls were in Norway for supper this week end, the occasion being their daughter Elaine's birthday—the honored guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Morin of Greene (nee Pauline Corriveau), are announcing the birth of their first grandson, Paul Garand, who was baptized in Lewiston this past week end. Proud great-grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Yvon Corriveau of Gilead. A maternal great great grandmother, Mrs. Ella Russell resides in West Paris.

Mrs. Nancy Corriveau and daughter, Kathy, spent Friday night in Canton with Mrs. Rachel DeCoster. The following day they were in Auburn shopping and attending a movie.

SENATOR COHEN From Washington

Trade issues are becoming increasingly dominant on the national agenda as growing trade deficits contribute to the deterioration of several of our major industries and to our high rate of unemployment.

Very large industries — such as autos and steel — with platoons of corporate lawyers and large budgets have still found these problems nearly insoluble. Imagine the difficulty encountered by smaller industries without substantial resources, who are forced to cope with the piles of paper work and an often unresponsive U. S. government on trade matters.

A case in point: The Maine Potato Council has an annual budget of $100,000. As the Council reviews are options for filing a trade petition concerning imported Canadian potatoes, it must take into consideration that costs associated with a trade remedy petition routinely run as high as $150,000. How can a small industry expect to cope with costs like that?

This problem was one of my major concerns during the last Congress, and last week I reintroduced a major piece of trade legislation which would give small industries better access to existing trade remedies. A brief look at the bill's history tells an interesting story about how our trade system works.

I spoke before the Senate in September of 1981 concerning problems in U. S.-Canadian trade relations — namely, how Maine products such as fish, potatoes and lumber were unable to compete with their heavily subsidized counterparts.

That speech prompted my further interest in the topic, and in November of that year I chaired a hearing on the general subject of U. S.-Canadian trade relations and how our government might better serve smaller U. S. industries besieged by Canadian subsidies.

That hearing was crucial because it allowed Maine potato and fishing industry spokesmen to state their cases directly to government decision-makers. One high-ranking Commerce Department official, Assistant Secretary for Trade Administration Lawrence Brody, told me after the hearing he had no idea the situation was so grave. In January 1982, I invited Brody to Maine for a first-hand look at the problems involved. Since then I believe it is fair to say that Maine's interests have been looked after more vigorously. The International Trade Commission subsequently launched a major investigation of trade problems in the potato industry, and a similar probe of the fishing industry's trade woes is underway. The lumber industry has also filed a similar trade action, which the ITC is investigating.

Through all the meetings and hearings, I heard over and over that small businesses — which are most vulnerable to the effects of foreign competition — too frequently find our trade remedies costly, complex, and ultimately illusory. Time and time again, Maine industries seeking relief from foreign imports — to which they are theoretically entitled under our trade laws — have been denied relief because of bureaucratic indifference, lack of resources, or other reasons unrelated to the merits of the cases.

My staff and I set to work on legislation to address some of these problems. There was no real precedent for this — trade problems of smaller industries simply hadn't been addressed by Congress. After long hours and thorough discussions with representatives of several smaller Maine industries, we came up with a bill which would do the following:

— Create a Small Business Trade Access trust fund to assist small industries in preparing for trade proceedings.

— Require that more weight be given to regional economic factors when trade petitions are evaluated (For example, the monetary exchange rate differential between the U. S. and Canada is regularly cited by industries as a problem, but is not considered as a relevant factor by the government).

— Establish an expedited review process on trade actions for industries dealing in perishable goods, such as Maine potatoes.

— Loosen existing requirements for specific information which industries must supply to document a trade case. At present, smaller industries may not have the capacity to produce the detailed information required by government trade agencies. My bill would require the government to make better use of the information which the smaller industries do have available.

I introduced this bill last year but, with the press of other business, it did not receive consideration by Congress. As the economic situation for many smaller industries worsens, however, I hope that the bill will be taken up in the very near future. I believe all that small industries want is to be treated fairly by the government, and this bill is a step in that direction. It will be a major priority for me this year.

Walking With Jesus Christ

Unhappiness reigns in the lives of many Christians—they have seen the "light"—but have covered it with a bushel basket. Their light doesn't shine — they should know better—they're eyes are not on their savior but rather on worldly things, being yet entwined with the love of money—slogging in the miring clay of fallen gods—serving themselves rather than God—doing that which was right in his own eyes." Judges 17:6

What a terrible delusion to be contented and even delighted in hearing the Word and yet not "doing it." "If a man says, I love God and hate his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?"—I John 4:20

The self righteous even wonder why God's blessings do not fall their way and why their witness is so ineffective.

The reflective "light" of Christ that should be ours is often dimmed by our personal desires — the veil of darkness has not been fully lifted and we live in a shaded area where the Gospel of Christ is not bright enough to see our way and the lives of others are not beneficially affected.

Any time we fail God—we carry out the will of Satan wherewith his L/CPL. SMITH PARTICIPATES IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA MARINE CORPS EXERCISE

To the Editor:

Never having written a letter to an editor, I am at a loss of where to begin. Eighteen years ago I was taught the rudiments of reading and writing. I have since read and written my way through high school and on to college. Now I am working as a substitute elementary teacher in Gorham, N. H., and can appreciate the efforts put forth by the teachers who shaped my life. As I look back I am impressed that I can recall by first grade teacher so clearly. I have never thanked her. Thank you, Mrs. Gaudreau.

FOREIGN STUDENT VOLUNTEERS HOPING TO COME TO AMERICAN FARMS

Boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 25 are hoping that a farm family will invite them to come to America to work on a farm for one month this summer.

These youngsters, who are sponsored by the SHEARE/Farmstay Program, designated by the United States State Department, are looking forward to sharing the life of an American Farm/Host Family, including the chores which are part of the routine of farm life.

These young visitors, who have been carefully screened in their home countries, are waiting in France, Brazil, Germany, Japan, Belgium and the Netherlands. Host Families may specify if they prefer a boy or a girl and which country is their choice.

Host Families are expected to furnish only shelter and meals; the students have medical and liability insurance.

The group will arrive in the USA in mid-July with their return scheduled for mid-August.

Readers with an interest in learning more about these young volunteers are urged to contact: Mrs. Penny Tarplin, "SHEARE/Farmstay, Post Office Box 261, Brightwaters, N. Y., 11718 USA. Phone: (516) 666-0786.

the American Heart Association, Maine Affiliate. As Chairman of the Campaign, which will take place in February, Mrs. Hutchins will coordinate the efforts of community volunteers who will visit all residential areas during the month to distribute heart-saving information and collect funds to support research, education, and community service programs sponsored by the Maine Affiliate of the American Heart Association. Heart Disease is the Number One Killer in the State and Nation. It should be noted that over a million Americans will die of Heart attack and blood vessel diseases this year. This represents 52% of deaths from all causes in the Country. These statistics underscore the vital need for public support of the Heart Fund Drive. ## FROM THE TOWN OFFICE

or institutions. Appropriate covenants in perpetuity would be included in the deeds requiring development of these lots for planned industrial or commercial use. Sale of the six sites would be concluded after federal and state funds had been committed for 90% of the total costs and would pay in total the Town's share of the project.

The keystone of this project, according to the Master Plan, is the exercise of the land option that would permit runway realignment and make available the six industrial/commercial lots. Twenty-four years ago, the Town obtained an option on a parcel of land adjacent to the existing runway for airport expansion that, if the Town decided, could be exercised at no cost to the taxpayers. This option irrevocably expires in July 1983.

The central question is whether Bethel needs a planned commercial/industrial airport complex. If so, what site should the facilities be, where should it be located and will area businesses and local citizens benefit? Your thoughtful comments on the Airport Questionnaire will help answer these questions.

Clear Directions Needed for Emergency Service Response

A key ingredient to prompt police, fire or ambulance responses is specific knowledge of the location and the type of emergency. In some recent instances, valuable time has been lost while drivers struggle to determine from vague directions the exact location of the emergency. Your help in providing the dispatcher brief but concrete information when calling for emergency assistance can help save lives and personal property.

Other Announcements

Moose hunting applications are now available at the Town Office. The permit fee is $5 and must be mailed to Augusta by April 1, 1983. Details are available with the application.

Residents are reminded that dog licenses were due on Jan. 1. Dogs six months of age must be licensed. Fees are $6.50 for males and females and $3 for altered males or females. A valid Maine rabies license must be presented at the time of licensing as well as neutering certificates.

The deadline for filing nomination papers is Feb. 14. Two Selectmen, two Assessors, two M.S.A.D. 44 Directors for three year terms, and one M.S.A.D. 44 Director for

ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS SEEK INFORMATION ON BALD EAGLE SHOT IN PORT CLYDE

Law enforcement officials are urgently requesting information about the recent shooting of a bald eagle in Port Clyde, Knox County, Maine. Individuals having any knowledge of this incident should immediately contact state game warden Lawrence Grant (Box 57, Warren, Maine 04864; 207-594-8618), the Maine Warden Service in Augusta (toll-free, 1-800-322-3606), or federal game warden Richard Stott (P.O. Box 7342, Portland, Maine 04112; 207-780-3235. All information will be held in strict confidence.

Bald eagles are protected by both state and federal law. The Bald Eagle Protection Act established penalties of up to $5,000 and/or 1 year imprisonment for shooting or otherwise molesting an eagle. The Act also stipulates that one-half of any fine imposed be rewarded to individual(s) providing information leading to a conviction. The National Wildlife Federation offers an additional $500, creating an overall reward of up to $3,000 for pertinent information.

The eagle was recovered alive shortly after midnight on Tuesday, Jan. 25, by a party from the University of Maine Wildlife Division, Warden Grant, and two local residents. The injured eagle was first seen on Saturday, Jan. 22, but wildlife officials were not notified until Monday evening. During the interim period, people had twice put out fish for the eagle to eat. Even so, the eagle was found in starved condition having lost 30-50% of its normal body weight. Research with Maine's eagle program stress that any eagle which can be approached close-

These programs will be held at Telstar High School, with a program on Basic Home First Aid, set for the Andover Elementary School.

Sylvia Clanton of Bethel will instruct a craft class in the making of fabric boxes on Tuesday evening, Feb. 8. Space is limited in this class, and those enrolled must obtain a list of materials to bring from the Adult and Community Education office.

Merton Brown and Vicky Back-liffe, veteran culinary arts teachers with the S.A.D. 44 program, return to the teaching scene with a novel, one-night program on Versatile Ricotta Cheese, making a variety of main dish items and desserts at the workshop. A lab fee is charged for this class, with those attending being able to taste as well as participate in the cooking. Ricotta Cheese will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 8.

Richard Ray of the Maine Energy Extension Service will present a Solar Retrofit workshop on Tuesday, Feb. 8. Ray has offered many energy programs through the S.A.D. 44 program and is always informative, and provides useful handouts, and ample opportunity for questions.

The critical task of Balancing Your Checkbook will be the subject of a Cabin Fever Special taught by Mary Keniston of the Casco Bank in Bethel. Mrs. Keniston will take students beyond the simple directions on the back of the monthly statement and offer tips and suggestions for hassle-free management of one's checking account. This program will be on Wednesday, Feb. 9. Those attending should bring one or two recent statements with checks, and deposit slips, plus paper and pencil.

FROM THE BETHEL AREA HEALTH CENTER

Urine Studies

Urine is considered waste material to many people, but it is very valuable to those at the Health Center. No noninvasive laboratory test tells more than the urinalysis. That is why it is done so frequently, both in screening well individuals and in monitoring those with chronic and acute health problems.

If a urine sample is needed, you will be asked to urinate into a collection cup. If just a screening is desired, a clean paper or plastic cup will be given to you. If a sterile sample is preferred, the container will be sealed and you will be asked to collect the sample in such a way that it will not be contaminated. The nurses at the Health Center will give you directions. Samples on children not toilet trained are collected in stick-on containers.

Urine is first evaluated by color, or clarity and density, or specific gravity. Then it is tested with a "dipstick". A dipstick is a screening tool composed of a variety of treated papers that change color when they come in contact with blood, chemicals, enzymes, or proteins that may exist in urine of some people. An excess of sulfur or protein could be seen on a dipstick. This could give a clue to a problem as important as diabetes or kidney diseases. The urine is then spun down in a centrifuge, concentrating the sediment which can then be examined under the microscope. The health provider might see red blood cells, white blood cells, crystals, bacteria, mucus, tissue cells, and occasionally other things which can help in an appropriate diagnosis.

If the health provider suspects you may have a urinary tract (bladder or kidney) infection, she/he may have a bacteria count done on the specimen you have given. This is done with a small strip of agar, or bacterial growth medium. This is dipped into the urine and then placed in the incubator. A bacteria count is done in 24 to 48 hours. A high count indicates a significant infection. Bacteria from this agar may be

Urine is used for other studies not covered in this brief explanation too, so hopefully you will be hearing more about this most valuable "waste" product in future articles.

North Paris

Eveline B. Vatcher, Corres. — Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Zinchuck at the North Paris Country Store are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child, a son named Daniel Barrett Zinchuck. He was born on Doug's birthday, Jan. 11. I goofed last week and got the wrong Douglass in the news items. Sorry.

Joe and Eveline Vatcher took Harlan Abbott to his doctor at Lewiston Jan. 27. The cast was removed from his leg and he was very disgusted that he couldn't bear his weight on his foot, so he had to use two crutches instead of the one that he had been using. We made a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Newton and daughter, Faye, at Mechanic Falls, then Harlan had supper with the Vatchers and had a jacuzzi bath (therapy) and it made his leg feel better. He comes every day for a bath and he can hobble around a bit now. Monday he has an appointment with the surgeon at Stephens Memorial Hospital, to discuss a hernia operation, then will see the tooth fairy. He should feel like a new man when he is all fixed up. It takes time.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kalinowski in the passing of Laura's sister, Frances, this past week. She has been sick for several months.

Callers at Lawrence's: Lloyd Huntley, Arnold Coffin, Marie Kujawa, Albert Penley Sr., Gertrude Birney, Herman and Thelma Card, Joe and Eveline Vatcher.

Joe Vatcher and Harlan Abbott went to Dresden to visit friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Perkins, and hoped to catch a mess of smelts, as the reports have been very good the past two weeks. They had good luck and a good visit.

Mr. and Mrs. James Abbott spent several days in Strong with Jane's sister and celebrated Jane's birthday on Jan. 26.

A beautiful winter wonderland on this Monday morning, and the sun is trying to poke through the clouds, so it may not last too long. Another storm is predicted for next week end so I guess we will eventually have a winter and the snow travelers can try out their machines.

Have a good week everyone.

T.T.A.E.R.S. News

(Tri-Town Ambulance & Emergency Rescue Service)

Tri Town would like to thank both Sgt. Bill Williams and Sgt. Jim Miclon of the Oxford County Sheriff's Department for their presentation of drugs and their discussion on drugs abused in Oxford County. Bill Williams specifically stated that the most abused drug he sees is alcohol.

The movie "What Did You Take?" explained how each type of drug overdose is treated in the hospital. This will enable the ambulance attendants to handle drug situations more knowledgeably.

The annual meeting is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Feb. 22 at the Legion Hall in West Paris. A pot luck dinner is scheduled first to be followed by election of officers and a business meeting.

Safety Tip of the Week: It is important in any accidental poisoning or drug overdose to save all containers taken. The information of what and how much helps the hospital treat the patient quickly.

FROM THE MAINE STATE SENATE

Donald Twitchell
State Senate District 5

Jan. 25, 1983

Maine residents are asking the $41,000,000 question—If the state was $32,000,000 in the hole because of retroactive tax indexing, how can it now be $41,000,000 ahead just because the legislature passed a bill removing retroactivity? And—why there is a $41,000,000 surplus, why can't I have my tax rebate and what was all the fuss about cutting social service programs?

"It is a little complicated, but there is no $41,000,000 surplus. It is $41,000,000 that is realized by removing the retroactive portion of the law. The state is still faced with budget requests which total $262 million over expected revenues. Inflation alone would demand more than $100 million to keep the state budget comparable to the 81-82 biennial budget. The $41,000,000 that Governor Brennan left out of his budget request was in response to the retroactive portion of the tax indexing law.

The bill which passed on Jan. 14, changes the base year of tax indexing from 1981 to 1983. By changing that date, the base rate for calculating the tax rebates was also changed. Tax rebates are figured using the current rate of inflation. In 1981, this was 11.6%. Had retroactivity begun in 1981, and $20 million in 1982 rebates, thus the often quoted and hotly debated $32,000,000. Indexing, which has a compounding effect, would have cost the state an additional $28 million in 1983 and $35 million in 1984, or $63,000,000 for the biennium.

No matter how you look at it, tax indexing means less money for the state because it involves adjusting the amount of taxable income and less tax dollars available for state programs. In 1983, the fact that the inflation rate is 6% will mean approximately seven million dollars less in revenues to the state. Governor Brennan figured his 1983-84 budget based on the fact that retroactivity had passed.

When retroactivity was removed on Jan. 14, he was able to recalculate the budget—add money to the budget because tax rebates would not be retroactive. Why $41,000,000 if he only needed $32,000,000 for 1981 and 1982?

If you compare the 1983 figure without retroactivity to the 1983 figure with retroactivity, there will be $21,000,000 of additional revenue by 1984. This is due to the change from the higher 1981 inflation rate to the lower 1983 inflation rate. In 1984, using the 6% inflation rate, tax indexing will cost $15,000,000. Had retroactivity been in effect, it would have cost $35,000,000—a difference of $20 million. Totaling the difference for 1983 and 1984, you end up with $41,000,000. But, it is not a surplus—there is no budget surplus. Tax revenues are down. The $41,000,000 is just the difference between tax indexing calculated at 1981 rates and tax indexing calculated at 1983 rates. The $41,000,000 is merely the amount of money—on paper in the Governor's budget based on estimated tax revenues—that the state will have by 1985 if the economic and federal revenues do not change drastically. Indexing itself is now in effect for the income that Maine's taxpayers are now earning.

Please let me know if you have any additional questions on this issue and I will be glad to answer them.

Jan. 27, Telstar traveled to Fryeburg and brought back a victory of 24-10. Linda Learned scored high with 10, Tammy Hall 6, and Anita Kimball 4. Defensive plays keeping Fryeburg down were made by Sheri Dooen, Debbie Bodwell and Lynn Seames.

Jan. 28, Telstar brought back a much earned win from Buckfield of 22-21, with Linda Learned out-doung herself with 17 points. Susan Isham had 4 and Anita Kimball with that much needed one point. Defense on top of Buckfield were Jeannine Conant, Sarah Chapman and Missy Johnson.

Tuesday brought Berlin, N. H., to Telstar and sent them home with a 16-14 win. A good game.

On Thursday of this week I was surprised while out walking in the afternoon. I stepped out of the road onto the snow and found that there was a crust that would hold me. Although I had walked for a time in the main road I decided to really try a walk into the woods. So I started up the Spring Road. The going was perfect and the kind of day when one felt compelled to be out.

Some beyond Fox Hill I saw my first track, that of a small deer. It had gone the same way that I was going. Then there were tracks of rabbits everywhere.

On higher ground I walked a long distance without seeing a single mark in the snow.

I now walked through hemlocks instead of returning to the trail I had left; motivated by curiosity and attractions of the scene, particularly by the different shades of green.

Light was a bit dim, for the sun found it hard to penetrate through the canopy of needles.

Now and then the plaintive, lonely call of the Jay came.

I walked slowly to observe things of interest. I was in no hurry. Time was of no consequence, as I became involved in my surroundings.

Some time later I emerged into a more sparsely treed area, where birch and poplar had secured a good hold and dominated the conifers.

Near the top of the hill I sat on one of the walls to look at the clouds forever drifting over the mountain summits and to the long irregular lines of stone walls that curve like monstrous snakes across the white fields.

Tuesday afternoon we were nically surprised by having a call- er; our nephew from West Paris. He drives an oil truck and was going this way so stopped for a few minutes. We are always more than happy to see David Yates or anyone else, who would like to call.

Wednesday turned out to be a nice day, so Russell and I went to Rumford and picked up some fruit and did a little shopping. It was such good weather that Rus- sell decided he would put more wood from the barn into the shed.

Thursday we were on the road again heading for Norway, where I had another appointment. It sure keeps one busy with all the ap- pointments we have. We had lunch while in South Paris and saw sev- eral people we knew doing the same thing.

Friday was another clear but cold morning. Even if cold they are pretty days when clear and bright. Sister Laura Hutchins from Andover came down to have a little help fitting a square dance dress she had in the making. I'm sure it will be a real pretty one when done.

Saturday afternoon, Peggy and I headed for Lewiston to visit our daughters and their husbands. Peggy visited Mr. and Mrs. Bern- ard White in Auburn, while I vis- ited Mr. and Mrs. Michael Woolf in Lewiston. We stayed over night returning on Sunday afternoon.

I mustn't forget that we had an- other caller on Saturday. My son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Whitman of Norway called early Saturday afternoon.

Guess I'm getting old and for- getful. We had a nice visit Friday afternoon from our neighbor, Mrs. Helen Rummels. Russell and the dog were out for their walk and met Helen out walking also and she came up to call for a little while. Hope she does again.

Hope I haven't forgotten any- one, and have a nice week.

I moved on down the hills facing

It slowly fell across the pond. The luster faded leaving darkness. Stars shimmered and the moon nearly full rose above the trees to follow its path across the sky until morning again put out the stars and the moon drop- ped from sight beyond the moun- tains.

Fay Holt had the cast removed from her arm on Friday after nine weeks.

Housing

The Maine State Housing Au- thority's $4.15 million Housing Op- portunities for Maine is once ag- ain under scrutiny. The program was enacted last year by the 110th Legislature as a means of bolster- ing Maine's ailing real estate and building industry, and to provide low interest loans to Maine's low income residents. Under the plan, $4.15 million was provided by the state to reduce the interest rates to about 13-14% for first time buy- ers earning under $27,000/year. Some money was also targeted for home improvements and energy conservation loans. Two contro- versies have erupted over the first weeks of the new legislative ses- sion.

Rental Units — the program states that only "single family" homes may be purchased, but the state defines "single family" homes as being owner-occupied dwellings of up to four units.

Buyers of four-apartment units can make a neat profit by making use of the state-subsidized loans. I feel that the state policy should be changed to limit the owner oc- cupied home to having only two units before expansion of this housing is considered.

H.O.M.E. Expansion — The Di- rector of the Maine State Housing Authority also thinks Maine's year old effort ought to be expanded by $6.5 million over the next two years. This proposal is expected to cause considerable controversy and opposition. Under this propo- sal, 2 million of the $6.5 million would be used to continue the H.O.M.E. program. Approximately $1.2 million would be funneled in- to the home improvement and en- ergy conservation loan program. The remaining money would be targeted for two new programs. The first would be a $2 million program to obtain better insur- ance coverage, and thus lower rates, for M.S.H.A. loan pro- grams. The other would provide to persons earning less than $12,000, or $13,000/yr. zero-interest loans, to be repaid when the mort- gage was paid off or the home sold. Mrs. Lanner gave an exam- ple, saying that if those people could afford a $20,000 home, and their homes were selling for $27,000, the program would ad- vance them $7,000 at no interest, which would be similar to a grant.

I feel this program needs to be adjusted because of declining mortgage rates. There is still $10 million (of the original $45.5 mil- lion) from the original program because conventional banks are offering 30-year loans at 12 1/2%. The Maine State Housing Author- ity's program is 13 1/4% for 25 years.
